Networking -- Socializing -- Information Sharing

Now in its fourth year!

The CLCC Regional Land Trust Board Summit Series continues!

Working with our conservation partners, CLCC is pleased to continue to offer a series of Regional Land Trust Board Summits throughout the year. The purpose of these roundtable discussions is to provide peer-to-peer networking for land trust board members, conservation commissioners, and interested individuals working to strengthen conservation in the same region.

Please join us for this fun and informal opportunity to share your board's experiences and challenges, offer advice on what's working, get some advice on what could work better for your land trust and for your region, and provide CLCC with input on your land trust's needs for services and programs.

Click HERE to read notes from previous regional summits, including those from previous years' meetings convened in the Farmington River Valley.

Light refreshments will be served. CLCC regional roundtables are free and open to all land trust board members, municipal land use commissioners and others who are interested.

Space is limited. RSVP is appreciated. Please contact CLCC Executive Director Amy B. Paterson: abpaterson@ctconservation.org or 860-614-8537.

The Connecticut Land Conservation Council advocates for land conservation, stewardship and funding, and works to ensure the long-term strength and viability of the land conservation community statewide.
